Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

And, best of all, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing, no more headache, dizziness or stuffiness for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head cold and cat-

REPORTS FROM SUFFRAGE HEARING

Made at Meeting of Norwich Equal Franchise League—Message of Sympathy to Mrs. Asher H. Wilcox—Reading Entitled "An Anti-Suffrage Monologue" Given by Mrs. J. Eldred Brown.

A good meeting of the Norwich Equal Franchise league was held Thursday afternoon at the Buckingham Memorial with Mrs. William A. Norton presiding. The usual reports were given and resolutions of sympathy were presented to be sent to Mrs. Asher H.
Wilcox from the league.

Mrs. Edward J. Graham, who with Mrs. J. Eldred Brown and four young women workers helped present the cause of equal suffrage before the committee at Hartford last week, told of the progress of the cause. The able speeches given by the several suffrage workers, and the strong arguments they brought forward, both mothers and working women find changed conditions. In addition to the suffrage workers, representatives from several labor organizations spoke in favor of the amendment and several other men favored it on the ground of simple justice.

Mrs. Charles A. Hargrove gave an account of the second day in Hartford, which was attended by Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Herbert R. Branson. She told of the way in which the anti-suffrage forces tried to flatter the committee and the way in which they brought against suffrage. The men who spoke for them did not flatter them any, but hit hard in their attitude on the inefficiency of women workers. Many speakers made many good suffrage hits and one of them got more applause than any other. Mrs. Branche added a few words of encouragement.
Mrs. Grosvenor Ely solicited food and assistance for the food sale in the Thayer building.

Mrs. J. Eldred Brown then gave a clever reading entitled "An Anti-Suffrage Monologue" which was extremely amusing. The author, though disdaining logic as unfeminine, still gives her arguments in complete and logical form. She will not use the ballot when it or she will spend all her time there.
It will make her just the same as her husband, or if she will array her against her husband. Women are angels and should not vote; they are so depraved that they should not. They cannot understand politics; they would occupy all the political positions; they are not capable of organization; they would all hold together in a sex war.
The ballot is much overestimated; the ballot which sought attention during the coming few months when dressy hats will be required.

In dictating the fashions in head-wear this season, the leaders have not been so far from the mark as during the coming few months when dressy hats will be required. The model in the forefront at the opening yesterday was a picture hat in natural leather, always so graceful and dainty, lending itself easily to the most distinctive and inveterably summerish. The one noticed had a facing of sea-shell Georgette crepe, and was adorned with three large French roses. The large blue falla ri-bon was about the crown and formed the charming streamers always associated with the hat.

Very striking was an old rose poke in banyard braid, trimmed with clusters of grass at the front. A large bow of red-colored ribbon with streamers and more grapes formed the back trimming. A rich Chantilly lace veil was worn with this elegant model.
The shepherdess shape holds its own and is displayed this season in sand Mouline and in the new facing of Persian net, side brim and side crown of the Persian net. Knots of roses and realistic blackberries are poised at the front and back. There is a French touch in the narrow black velvet ribbon band and streamers.

A particularly good model was a Rebbecca hat with a wide brim and a crown of black velvet ribbon and streamers. The four points were turned back in a smart way and bound with the bronze braid. A plaiting of Rebecca hat was on the lower and for finish there was a knot of flowers and plaited ribbon.

Transparent hats are greatly liked.
One which was shown was a transparent of the season's modes was a broad-brimmed, flat shape in Georgette crepe. A veiled wreath on the lower brim showed through on both sides.
One large rose was poised at the front and back. The crown was about the crown and finished with streamers and knotted ends.

and knotted ends.

a crown of black velvet ribbon and
flowers and plaited ribbon.

Transparent hats are greatly liked.
of the season's modes was a broad-
brim showed through on both sides.
